Bicentennial Edition

Cheryl,
It was nice getting to know you in algebra I & II. Your really a good singer and I liked listening to the solos, that you've done over the year. Hope that the college you go to, you'll have fun at. Don't do any algebra over the summer (it might kill you!)

love and Blessings
Barb Rankine *

Cheryl,
From the smart sophmore who sits ahead of you, and gives you a bad time in Math. You have my permission to come over to my house anytime, I don't know if you do though.
Love,
Mark Hemelman
P.S. class of '78 is #1

Cheryl,
From the sophmore that sits in front of you in math. It's to bad I didn't have you in more of my classes. It's nice to have something to look at besides a math book.
See ya!
(hint, hint)

Good Times We Remember

Fun Days

Cheryl,

Even though I give you a hard time sometimes, I do respect you for standing up for what you believe. It's not easy and there's too many wishy-washy people around. That's neat Cheryl. Good luck with your musical career. You've got talent!

Filled With Simple Pleasure

-Cheryl-

This year has been a very exciting year for all of us. Jazz tour was lots of fun ~~as~~ was the Jazz show. I was really proud of the Vocal Jazz at Contest. It brought everybody close together.

Good Luck & my best wishes during your earthly life. Love

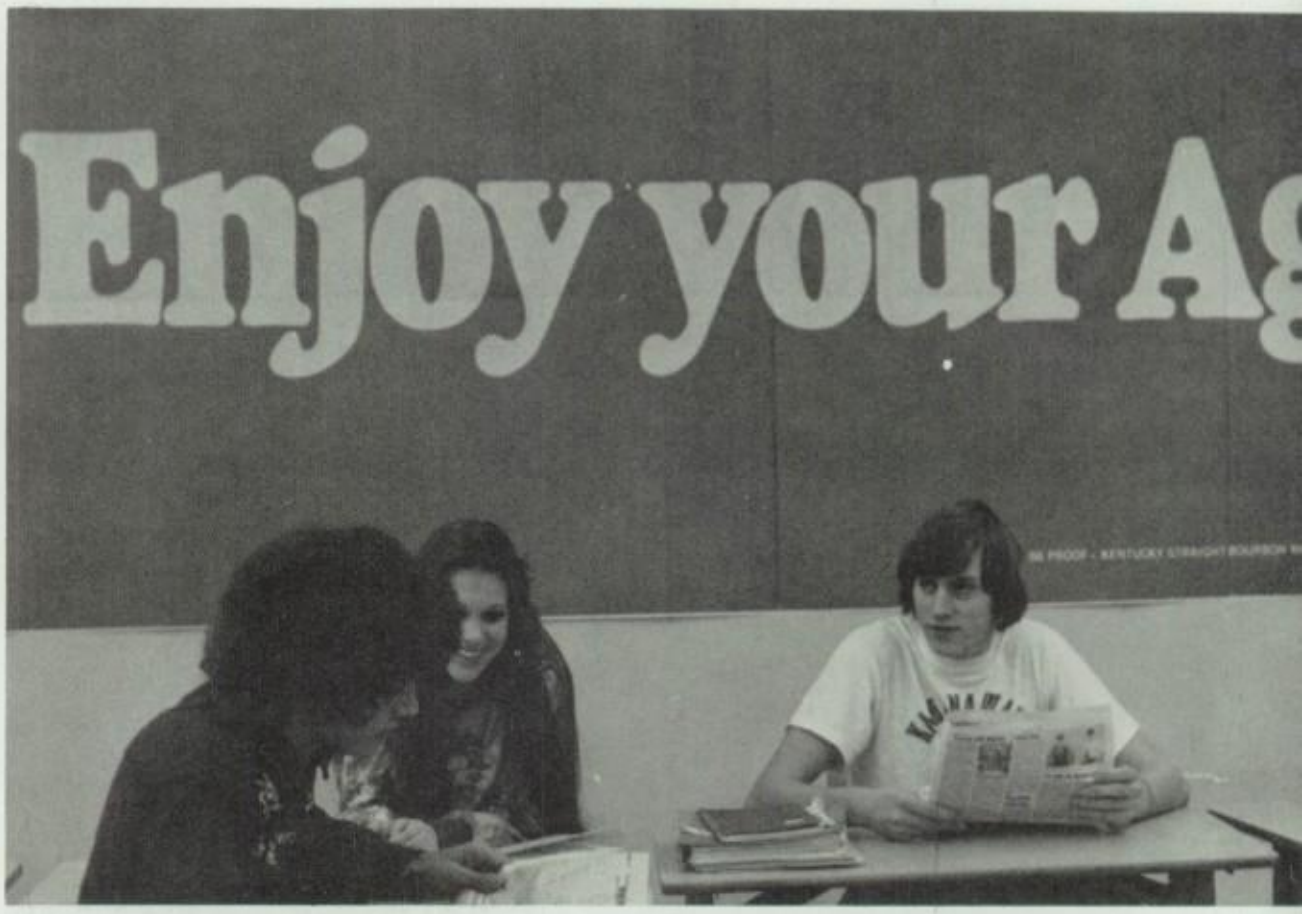
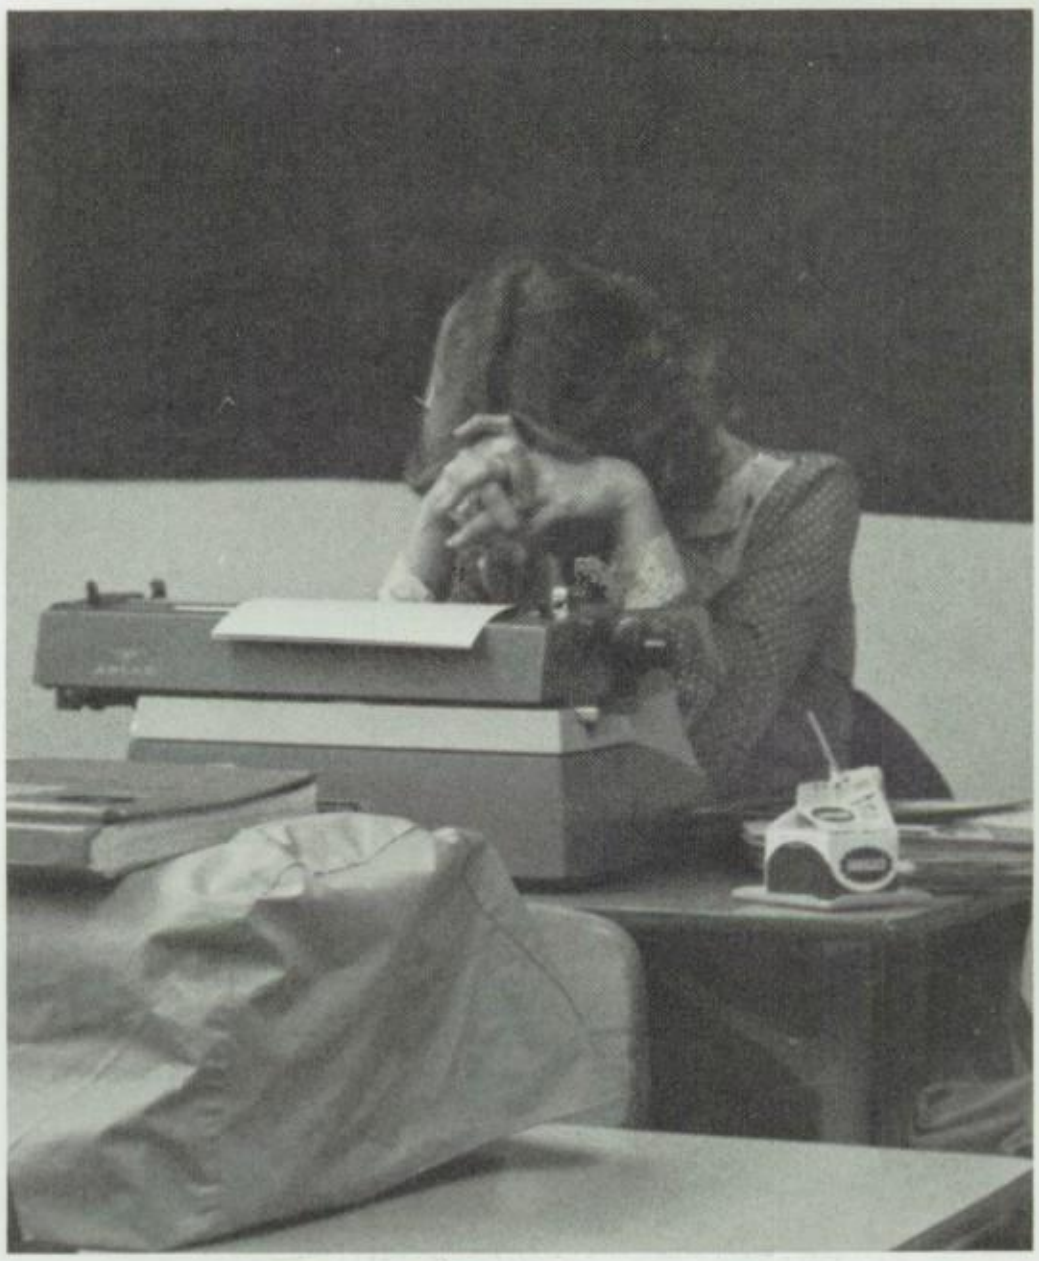
Take Me Back —to a World Far Away





Memories—Seem Like Yesterday

Dear Cheryl,

This year I've noticed a tremendous change in you. I'm very proud of you. Jazz tour was a blast with you that is where I noticed the change.

Congradulations,

Adrian

Cheryl,

I will always remember this year especially the love and togetherness in our Jazz Group. I think it's especially memorable because I think it was nothing like Mr. Klein had seen before. Prayer before singing, contest, recording Amen!! I can't tell you how much it has meant to me to know you. Especially seeing the changes in you through out the years. (Visa Versa I'm sure) We have been there a lot when you stop & think about it. Thank you for your support & help in the Miss Iss Pageant. I hope we'll see each other. God Bless you in school and in your music.

With love,

Jenny Rae Winslow

Bicentennial Revolutionizes Homecoming

Homecoming captured the bicentennial spirit with a theme of "200 Years and the Best is Yet to Come." Daily class competition filled time between breaks and after school.

Dominating the weeks activities, the Seniors started by winning class day, when they dressed up as anything they wanted, patriots, '76 balls, bums and ghosts included. A pig chase, minute man race, and a contest for the best Indian painter completed the day's activities. For the third year in a row, the Class of '76 won the float competition. They also collected the skit and grandstand points.

Juniors in cowboy costumes played Dating Game, tug of war (which they won), chugged rootbeer, and discovered the best seed spitter. The remaining points, for the sign and powder puff football went to the Juniors.

The Sophomores tied with the Seniors in Powder puff and the sign competition. Dressed as Indians, they ran three-legged races, rolled ping pong balls, and had a warrior painting contest.

The traditional assembly, honoring the class of '75, took place on Halloween, Oct. 31, with the sophomore class coming an hour early in order to attend. Gary Hanvold and Mary Colasurdo were crowned Sophomore Prince and Princess. Junior prince, Brian Abdo and Junior Princess, Ardis Wallace were then crowned. Senior Dave MacIntosh was appointed Homecoming King. The seniors then presented their winning skit, a take-off on the "Bicentennial Minute" after a series of speakers.

Peggy Gregoire reigned as Queen and cheerleader during the game. The Indians almost won in a close game of 15-13 against Sammamish.

Sophs Delight Crowd With One Acts

A drama, a satire, and a musical comedy displayed the varied talents of students in the seventh annual Sophomore One Acts staged in October.

Mr. Gordon Warren directed a pleasant, homespun story titled "The Neighbors." A normally unfriendly neighborhood unites to help out a widow in need and in doing this they learn how to be "just plain folks."

"Thursday Evening", directed by Senior Pam Wells was a satire about a young couple whose marriage is threatened when their quiet Thursday dinner is interrupted by their mothers-in-law.

"Free to be You and Me", directed by Kelly Huntington was a bright and clever collection of vignettes on childhood which included three songs and four skits from the musical of the same name.

The future looks bright for the drama department at Issaquah Senior High. The Sophomores, showing their acting ability, made the One Acts the most successful on record.

In "Free to be You and Me" the actors portray many aspects of childhood. During a song entitled "Every boy in this land grows to be his own man" (ABOVE), Teresa McManus, Don Coleman and Kathy Meyer do some clowning around. In a skit entitled "Boy meets girl", (RIGHT) Don Coleman exclaims to Laura Martin (LEFT), "I'm so glad to be here!".

Oklahoma Is More Than "OK"

"Oklahoma" came to Issaquah with as much fanfare as when it first appeared to audiences in 1947. It was the first collaboration of Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein and their most popular musical to date.

This was the fourth musical directed by Liz Henson who states, "considering the split shift and rehearsal scheduling problems the show came off with as much polish as past musicals which was largely due to the unlimited enthusiasm of the kids, they made it a success." Several of the five performances offered "standing room only" and people had to be turned away at the door. Much credit must also be given to William Klein's chorus and Glen Lutzenhizer and the orchestra.

About one hundred people participated in "Oklahoma", all contributing to its success. Some of the schools' best talents were at work including actors, actresses, dancers, stage crew, make-up and props committees, and costume designers. Many other individual efforts by students, faculty, and parents helped make this years' musical a success.

"Oklahoma" not only provided high quality entertainment but continued the tradition of dramatic excellence for the drama department at Issaquah Senior High School.

Tribe Trounces Six Opponents

Picking up fourth in Kingco, the Indians came through with a 6-4 season record with chances of taking the championship all the way until their 9th game defeat at the hands of the Sammamish Totems. In the play-offs they were defeated by Mercer Island in overtime for the third place honors. An early upset victory over 1st place Interlake was a major season highlight.

Key mistakes in tight situations took credit for the four close loses they suffered to Mercer Island, Sammamish, and Newport. Frequent fumbles deep in enemy territory was a major problem but, the defense was extremely tough and the offense explosive.

A Senior controlled backfield of Dave Cords, Jeff Hunt, and Rich Williams led the way on the majority of Issaquah's plays. Cords and Hunt were rated high in the league for yards gained per carry.

Good pass catching ability was demonstrated by seniors Dave Mackintosh and Greg Ahrens, who repeatedly snared senior quarterback Mark Laitala's passes.

Doing an outstanding job of blowing holes open for the backs was center Mike Clark, guards Greg Hampton and Larry Hood and tackles Marty Shaw and Larry Shoenmaker.

Defense Bounces Bad Guys

Holding their opponents to short yardage and few points became quite a habit for the Indian defense. Three times they sent the opposition home scoreless and quite often yielded only one opposing touchdown.

Young Team Tough Break

Having a tough time in league competition, the Issaquah Girls' Tennis Team struggled to a 0-10 conference record. A lack of Seniors in the top positions accounted for part of their defeat.

Top individuals rotating for number one singles were Sophomore Missy Pagan with a 5-5 record and Junior Shannon Paige, 3-7. Junior Becky Jaekel, 2-8, was number two singles. Rotating for number one doubles were Junior Shauna Collins, 3-7, Missy Pagan and Shannon Paige.

Representing Issaquah in the Kingco Tournament were Shannon Paige and Missy Pagan in doubles and Shauna Collins in singles.

The team voted Junior Lynne McKinley as most improved and Junior Lori Magraw and Shannon Paige as most inspirational players.

Seniors Direct Linksters

Starting his first season as coach, Jim Montgomery helped the Issaquah golfers to a 3-4 season.

As a team they finished third in the Kingco Medalist Tournament, broke a school record by winning three matches in a row and pulled off an impressive victory over Mercer Island 201-200.

The Issy duffers got off to a slow start, losing their first three matches. But their third loss, against top ranked Bellevue was the turning point in the season. "We started playing up to our abilities during the Bellevue match," said Senior Hans Ulland, the teams leading medalist.

Other varsity players are Senior Tim Church and Junior Mike Kenyon. Both finished in the top ten during the Kingco Medalist Tournament. Senior Kevin Keating, Junior Marty Woods and Sophomore Mark Empens made up the remainder of the varsity squad.

Issaquah Volleys for Comeback

"Next year we'll be tough", states Coach Ann Joyce. Although this year's girls' volleyball team didn't do as well as hoped, with three wins and seven loses, all agreed it was a good rebuilding year. The team is looking for a strong, spirited season next year and hopes to rank high in the league.

This years varsity lineup were seniors Julie Castor, and Cathy Cambell, junior team members include Carrie Henninger, Barb Ansley, Julie Wilson, and Terri Grimes aided by sophomore Hollie Hailstone.

Harriers Make It to District

Wrapping up the season with a 4-5-1 conference slate, the thinclads broke into the top five at the league meet thus qualifying for the district finals.

Running number one for the Indians all season, Brad Stenberg placed sixteenth at Kingco with Doug Oien a close seventeenth. Seniors Greg Runyon, Tom Nelson, and Roland Robinson and sophomores Mark Lieber and Mark McClish filled out the varsity squad.

The girls team, also coached by Ken Ruud, finished second, only losing to a fleet Newport team. Sophomores Kathy Chase and Leslie Riebe were top placers for Issaquah.

Cheerleaders Promote Victories

"The job of the cheerleader is to promote pep and get the student body involved in school activities," stated Queen Peggy Gregoire.

Fullfilling their obligation, the '75-'76 I.H.S. cheerstaff held several pep assemblies and cheered on the Indian teams to successful seasons.

Leaving no doubt as to their abilities, the staff received three superior and one excellent rating at summer cheerleading camp in Ellensburg. They won the awards with creative cheers to songs such as "Dance to the Music", "Pick Up the Pieces", "Rock around the Clock" and "Hijack."

The '75-'76 cheerleaders were; Queen Peggy Gregoire, Judy Massett, Teri Roselli, Jean Wolf, Laura Gest, Ardis Wallace, Christy Gregoire and Kristy Folkman.

Making up the J.V. squad were cheerleaders Stacy Smith, Chris Rhyndance, Jill Jennings and Kim Chiftis. The Yell Kings were Bill Shestock and Jimmy Reynolds.

Times Staff Meritorious

Completing their 13th consecutive year, the award winnning school newspaper, the I-Hi Times, continued to inform and entertain the student body.

Editor Brent Siewert and the 22 member staff advised by Mr. Doug Simpson, succeeded in achieving their goal of informing students of current events around the high school with outstanding feature articles such as "Extra Points," a commentary by Sports Editor Tim Hurlocker. Other regular features were "Truth and Such" by Luke Lefler, "Logomachy" by Monty Hurst and "Now You've Done It" by Brent Siewert.

Four other staff members held editorship. Kevin Charles and Pam Studeman as assistants to Chief Siewert, Debbie Ambrose as Feature Editor, and Kathy Wuerl in charge of news.

Even though Student Government at Issaquah is self-supporting, the levy failure took its toll on the Associated Student Body. Communication lines were especially effected by this year's double-shifting and the budget, as always, was a problem.

The major change made under the guidence of Advisor Bob Zimmerman and this year's ASB officers was the elimination of Representative Council. This was replaced by a second Student Council in the afternoon, which means all legislation must pass both the Sophomore Council and the Junior-Senior Council. President Mike Fancher is making a major effort to unite the second and seventh period leadership skills classes by staying after school and presiding over both.

Student Council meetings are held every Monday with Tuesday being reserved for workshops; and educational activity designed to help students learn more about decision making. Major ASB activities this year include Homecoming, with substantial contributions made by Tammy Hix, the Blood Drive, a student exchange with Lindberg High School, and a possible future exchange with Decatur High School.

Concert Choraled by Singers

For the 32nd consecutive year, the Issaquah High School Music Department presented its traditional Christmas present to Issaquah High School and the community. From the beginning Candlelight Procession to the Grand Finale Hallelujah Chorus, the Chamber Symphony, Concert Chorale, and Girls' Hi-Tones, gave a beautiful display of skill and talent, achieved through numerous hours of hard work and practice.

"In spite of double shifting and inconvenient practice hours, the 1975 Christmas Concert was by far the best in at least the last 8 years, if not all 32," commented Mr. Glenn Lutzenhiser, orchestra director. Mr. William Klein, directing the Concert Chorale and Girls' Hi-Tones, felt an outstanding job was displayed by all performers. Judging by audience response during the concert, it was evident that his praise was justified.

Featured vocal soloists included Suzanna Marinelli, Donel Bulyca, Cheryl Hawkes, and a duet of "O Holy Night" performed by Lisa Corrigan and Don Hicklin. Orchestra soloist Leslie Threkeld performed on the oboe. All were accompanied by Karen Janes on the piano.

Equestrian, F.F.A. Active in Shows

Equestrian Club members attended a hunt-jump demonstration, went on field trips and put on horse-shows besides their regular meetings. Members of the Washington State Horsemen's Association, they organized two 'B' rated approved shows for the purpose of raising money for club activities and a scholarship fund. The $500 scholarship is received by a senior who is going on in the field of animal science.

Placing well at shows, fairs and judging contests throughout the summer, the FFA raised money by selling plants raised in the greenhouse and by operating the concession stand during football games. They attended district meetings, demonstrations and the State Convention along with 1500 other FFA members. A special banquet was given to new members and one to parents. They also tended the school grounds by pruning trees, and removing brush and weeds.

This year's officers are: President, Scott Koppes; Vice President, Craig Martin; Secretary, Penni Gutschmidt; Treasurer, Brian Revard; Reporter, Kathy Fowler; and Sentinel, Byron Bromiley.

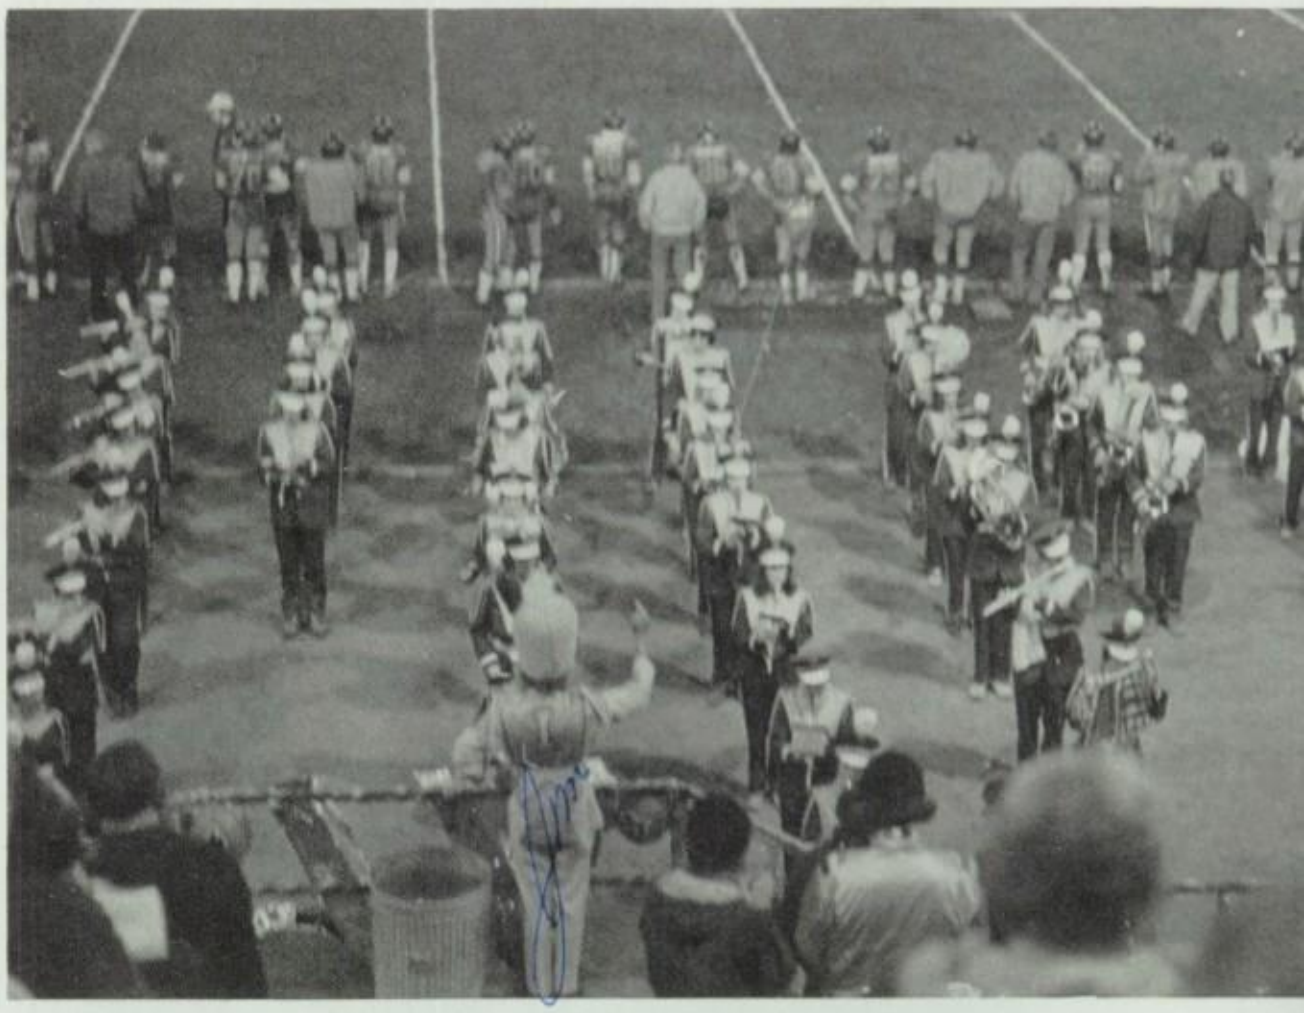
Marchers on the Move



"This year's Varsity Band was truly an outstanding group," stated Mr. Lutzenhiser, the bands director, and indeed it was. During such activities as football games and parades the marching band displayed an original musical as well as visual experience. Drum Major Jim Taylor praised his group by saying, "the individual dedication of the band members resulted in its dramatic improvement."

Due to their excellence the band was invited to perform during the NCAA soccer finals at Seattle's Memorial Stadium. That and other such honors supported Mr. Lutzenhizer's observation that indeed the band had "a very productive year."

Helping out with the visual aspect of halftime shows during both football and basketball games was this year's IHS Drill Team. Advisor Ms. Tomchick, Captain Lisa Tweed and Co-captain Sharon Smart led the thirty girls to such tunes as "Thank God I'm a Country Boy," "Jive Talkin," and of course, "Rockford Files." Last year, during state competition, the team received "Superior" recognition, the highest award given during the competition.

Besides thrilling crowds with their dances, the girls also held fund raising events and other activities. The other activities included Pot Luck dinners and slumber partys.

Debaters Execute Affirmative Year

Distinguishing themselves as one of the top contenders in the state, the Issaquah debate squad, both senior and junior teams, had a successful, winning season. Starting with Kingco league competition, both Issaquah divisions placed high among the local schools.

Competition wasn't limited to the Kingco level. The squad, along with coach Catherine Fewel, traveled to tournaments at many colleges, including Western, SPC, UPS, PLU, and Seattle U.

Teams distinguished themselves in debate by taking first place trophies at the Issaquah Invitational and at SPC. Third place awards were also won at Issaquah, SPC, and S.U.

Many trophies were won in a variety of individual speaking events. The team showed it versitility by taking first place sweepstakes as SPC. A vital of 22 trophies were won overall.

The difficult topic, resolved that: The Development and Allocation of Scarce World Resources should be controlled by an International Organization, was perhaps the broadest in many years. It allowed many opportunities for extensive research and learning.

In addition to standard forensic activities, the squad members participated in special Bicentennial events which offered chances for continued speaking experience as well as scholarship grants.

Experience Pays Off, 6 Men Go to State

In a year of great success, experience paid off as Issy grapplers proved their strength by taking top honors in King-Co. The year was filled with many stars including King-Co and Region champs Chris Mitchell at 108, King-Co champion Patrick Faast at 135, Tom Sharp at 158, and Region champ Doug Kingman at 190 lbs. But of course the team's success would not be possible without the support of an overall outstanding team.

In the King-Co tournament the Indians placed 11 competitors in the top three places. Three members placed first, three second and five in the third position, making it one of the most successful seasons in the team's history.

Chris Mitchell and Doug Kingman, with 23-4 and 13-7 records respectively, were champs in their weight classes in the Region I AAA tournament. Tom Sharp 22-3, second; Bob Snelson 21-7, fourth; Darren Pickering 14-4, fourth; and Patrick Faast 20-7, fourth; took honors in the region tournament to also send them along with the champions.

Indians 4th in League Make it to District

Burning up their opponents during the first half of the season, the Issaquah Runnin' Indians wrapped up the campaign with a 10-5 Kingco league record. Issaquah finished tied for second in division six and advanced to the West Central District tournament as the Kingco number four seed after defeating Bellevue.

Led by Coach Rich Brines the Indians put together a seven game win streak until losing to division champion Juanita. In the second half of the schedule Issaquah suffered some disappointing upsets at the hands of Bothell and Inglemoor. The spark and drive needed to win seemed to drain from the team as the season dragged on through February.

Top scorer for the team was sophomore center Nate Skow. Seniors Kevin Lindsay and Brian Cress played a tough defense that often frustrated opposing players. Running the offense were guards Brian Skinner, Jeff Merritt and Mark Laitala coming off the bench.

J.V.s Have Record Season

The Issaquah J.V. basketball team broke the school record for the most wins by compiling a 17-2 season slate. The team was led offensively by juniors Marty Wood, Larry Hughes, and sophomore Scott Roy. Junior Larry Bower, Russ Burke, and Mike Winston hustled on defense, causing turnovers and grabbing steals. Coming off the bench for the Indians were Scott Thomas, Scott Bass, and Dave Mellor.

The sophomore team, led by high scorer Kirk Lider, finished the season with a record of 9-5. Jack Carmichael and Steve Woodard helped the young Indians in their first year of Issaquah Basketball.

Issy Tumblers 2nd in Kingco

With a reputation already established by past successes, the Issaquah High School girls' gymnastics team had a tough title to live up to. The 16 member team, consisting of 2 seniors, 1 junior, and 12 sophomores, managed to continue their reputation as the team to beat.

Losing only one meet during regular league competition, Issaquah entered Kingco competition ready to stomp and determined to win. The Issy Squaws emerged second only to Bellevue in the two day competition.

Particularly good showings for the season came from seniors Debby Warden and Joanne Seigen, and sophomores Kim Amos, Becky Kramer, and Kris Rhyndance. Warden and Kramer, the team's all-around competitors, played a major part in leading the team to victory.

After four successful years as girls' gymnastics coach, Mrs. Becky Weed has left Issaquah and moved to New Jersey. We hope her brilliant coaching career will continue wherever she goes.

Girls' Cagers Shoot For Experience

Under the direction of Coach Dale Hall, the Issaquah girls basketball program completed their first year of conference play with a 6-11 record. The Indians, after a slow start, finished the season well by winning four of their last seven games.

With the starting five consisting of four juniors and one sophomore, the team lacked the needed experience to deal with such league powers as Sammamish and Bellevue, which took first and third in the state.

Leading scorer for the Indians was junior Julie Wilson and top rebounder was Taryn MacKenzie. Filling out the starting line-up were Shannon Paige, Cindy Galloway, and Tara Tschider.

Jazz Show Best Ever

Talent was the main theme of the 1976 jazz show. This two hour concert boasted the talents of the High Tones, Jazz Ensemble and Stage Band. This annual event drew more people than any other time in its history. "It was the most successful jazz show in every way," said Mr. Lutzenhiser, Stage Band director.

The show was fast-moving and exciting with careful mixing of the three groups. The songs ranged from contemporary jazz and pop to tunes like "That Old Black Magic" from the 30's. Throughout the two hours there were solos by singers Sue Marinelli, Donel Bulyca, Brenda Kutz, Leigh Ann Larson, Don Hicklin and instrumentalists Ed Billington, Jim Taylor, Tim MonteCalvo and Ron Anderson. All in all, it was a tight, well thought out, exciting show.

Spirited Indians Strive for Playoffs

The 1976 Issaquah Diamondmen gained momentum midway through the season to finish with a "better than expected" record of 8-6 in Kingco League action and a 10-6 record in overall play.

The highlight of the season was senior Mike deLisle, who was the leading batter. He had 16 hits during the season and a sensational .390 batting average. Junior Desi Storey led the team in RBI's with 11. Senior Paul Pritchard headed the Diamondmen's pitching staff with a 5 win 2 loss record. Storey was the leading strikeout pitcher for the Tribe. Other outstanding players were senior catcher Erik Borg, who was a three year letterman, juniors Warren deLisle, Marty Germann, Gary Corra, and Rick Shinn. Coach Paul Johnson noted that Reed Carlson was the most improved Indian. He also stated that all three seniors did really well. "Our hitting was inconsistent at the beginning of the season, but we started hitting well down the stretch."

Even though this year's Indian baseball team was one of the best ever, next year should be even better, as the Diamondmen are expecting 9 returning lettermen.

Trackmen Revitalize Program

After four years of losing, the boys' track team received some respect from a few surprised league coaches. While compiling their first winning record in dual meets in years, the Indians also placed second at the tough Mt. Si and Federal Way invitationals. Coaches Steve Harshman and Roger Wilson hope to continue this rebuilding and return Issaquah to a league power.

Seniors led the team with Kevin Lindsay competing in both the high and low hurdles, Brad Stenberg and Tom Nelson running the mile and two mile, and Brian Skinner mixing a strange combination of long and triple jump plus the shot put.

Sprinters Don Lycette and Rick Lindblad handled the 100 and 220 with Larry Karr gutting the 440. Other standouts were Scott Roy, Steve Birdsall, Mark Leber, Scott Meredith, Cort Orr, Clete Casper, and Mark Anderson.

Sophs Break Records

The girls track team ended a good season of 5 wins to 2 losses. The team's field events, although somewhat inexperienced, provided valuable points in dual competition. Their strength in the running events proved to be of great use.

The 3 invitational meets showed their power. We won at Mt. Si High School, second at Federal Way High, and seventh out of 45 schools, at Issaquah.

This year the team, the majority of them sophomores, broke 5 school records. Kathy Jaekel ran the 100 yard dash in 11.3. Leslie Riebe ran the 220 yard dash in 24.8 and the 440 yard dash in 59.7. Kathy Chase, Kathy Jaekel, Tina Robinson, and Leslie Riebe ran the mile relay in 4:01.7 (which was the fastest time in state). Tina Robinson, a junior, ran the mile run in 5:27.6. The strength of this year's team will be returning next year.

Indians Garner Experience

The young Issaquah Tennis Team finished this year's competition with a 5-4 record. They ripped open the season with a big win in the first game of league play. Then, moving into the tough part of the season, the Indians lost three games in a row. Coach Jim Bruno regrouped his players and went on to finish off the year without another loss.

The team, having lost almost all of their varsity players last year, had to depend greatly on the talents of the new Sophomores. Coach Bruno believes that all the players gained a lot of experience which will be extremely important to the team next year.

The top six players this year were; 1 Sal Pagan, 2 Kevin Charles, 3 Keith Duffy, 4 Mike Woerner, 5 Rusty Jeffers, and, 6 Bill Shestock.

Imaginary Invalid Goes On

Miles Malleson's adaptation of "The Imaginary Invalid" by Moliere was another outstanding production as the all-school play. Under the direction of Liz Henson, the tremendous talent involved blossomed into a unified cast and both parties learned from the experience. Despite such difficulties as split shift and tight budget, the play went on and tried to be as realistic as possible.

The play concerns a hypochondriac, Monsieur Argan, who has an infatuation for doctors. In fact, he is so infatuated he wants to marry his daughter, Angelique, to Dr. Thomas Diaforus, son of the great Dr. Diaforus. But Angelique has better ideas and sets her sights on young, handsome Cleante. To help accomplish her goal, Toinette the maid steps in. Monsieur Argan isn't bright and doesn't realize that his wife, Beline, is having an affair with the lawyer, Bonnefoy, and also, that she is trying to steal his money. But he finds out in the end, and Angelique gets Cleante and Argan becomes a doctor.

Gymnastics 2nd in Kingco, Soccer?

Guided by coach Gene Jenson, this year's Issy gymnasts have completed one of their most improved seasons ever. Their '76 varsity record stands at 6 wins and 3 losses, compared to last year's season record of 0 wins and 8 losses. Much of the team's success is credited to the consistently fine individual performances of the team's two all-arounds, George Rhynedance and Chris Adams. Their efforts, combined with the rest of the team's competitive attitude, placed them 2nd in Kingco and led them into regional competition. Other varsity team members include seniors Bob Ambrose, Randy Barr, Tom Hansen, Alan Matthew, Charlie Pearson, and Chuck Powell; juniors Jim Afflerbach, Nate Brown, Eric Buehrer, Jan Hemstad, Steve Roy, Dave Toner, and Lam Trinh-Hoang; and sophomores Tim Cole and Jeff Conwell. Returning junior and sophomore gymnasts promise to make next year another successful season for Issaquah.

In their second year of being an official school sport, both boys' and girls' soccer proved worthwhile. The boys had talented players like Jeff and Warren Merritt, Marty Shaw, and Scott Chase but still didn't do as well as expected. They finished with a season record of 4-6. Girls' had some outstanding players like Lori Magraw and Shannon Paige. Their season record was 13-0. The teams were both coached by John Jarvinen.

Honor Society, Honor Grads

Perhaps because of the problems of double shifting, the Honor Society as a group did not have an active year, although they did participate in a skating party and pot luck dinner. Honor Society was led by officers Alison Medcalf, president; Judy Pancratz, vice president; and Pam Oja, secretary with help from their advisor Ms. Margaret Davis.

Twenty-seven senior students from Issaquah High achieved a grade point average of at least 3.75 or higher this year. They were: Teresa Bateman, Jan Bruskland, Rebecca Carlson, Karleen Cecil, Mike de Lisle, Lynn Durden, Rebecca Erickson, Mike Fancher, Pauleen Feeney, Christy Gregoire, Nancy Grim, Don Hicklin, Tim Hurlocker, Monty Hurst, Amy Hutchison, Karen Janes, Linds Klein, Karen Krigbaum, Frank Lehmann, Mark Lindsey, Don Lycette, Alison Medcalf, Lucy Mohl, Diane Nielson, Judy Pankratz, Roland Robinson, Mark Tueffers, and Jenny Winslow.

Pep Club: No. 1 in State

Keeping up their happy and spirited tradition, the Pep Club once again proved itself valuable by supporting all sports throughout the year.

During the afternoon session, girls armed with streamers, balloons, and candy could be spotted creeping through the sign plastered halls quite frequently. The secret pal system continued to surprise many a hungry athlete during all 3 seasons with goodies, signs, notes, decorated lockers, and gifts. Minor sports were never forgotten and received cakes, cookies, and other goodies. The year's fun included many activities such as kidnap breakfasts, secret pal parties, pizza parties before football games, pot luck dinners, get togethers with other Pep Clubs, and decorating locker rooms and buses.

While double shifting posed a few problems, they were conquered quickly by effective communication and eager hard-working officers and members.

Knights in Blue Satin

With the traditional services of car parking, running the concession stands, and assisting faculty at registration, the Shamen came through the year once again in superstar fashion. Although all their established activities require much of their time, they still intermingled with the Keshani and had some fun. Halloween, game parties, pizza parties, roller skating, and a snow-filled trip to Mount Baker are some of the fringe benefits of this organization.

Mr. Christofferson did his utmost to head this unorthodox senior group with the aid of Shamen president Ed Billington, vice-president Hans Ulland, Secretary Jeff Merritt, and treasurer Al Pagan.

Gabbing Green Gals Always on the Go

The traditional meaning of "Keshani" has always been "friendship through service." But, the thirty-four girls who comprised the 1975-1976 Keshani Club added a new meaning to their club name: "Fun through service."

Under the guidance of advisor Leigh Wilson and the four officers: President Diane Dickerson, Vice-President Tia Leber, Secretary Cheryl Gere, Treasurer Barb Richardson, and Editor Linda Klein, the girls experienced a successful year of friendship and fun.

The yearly tradition of tutoring elementary school children was continued at the eight elementary schools, giving everyone a sense of pride and accomplishment and helping others. Through contributions, the girls also sponsored an Indian boy, Mahendra Singh, in a hostel near Mysore, India. The girls assisted in scheduling; took tickets at football, basketball, and wrestling events; and served at various school sponsored banquets and activities throughout the year.

Some of the more amusing entertainment included Keshani-Shamen roller skating and pizza parties, camping trips to Mt. Baker and Sun Lakes, Red Cross gift stocking, slumber parties, Kris Kringle, and waking up to doughnuts in C-11.

Over-all the girls had a rewarding year serving the school and community.

"Teeth" Creates Smiles

The Thespian club introduced a new concept in drama to Issaquah Senior High when they presented "The Skin of Our Teeth" in late February. This contemporary play by Thornton Wilder is a satire about mankinds' struggles with fire, flood, pestilence, the Ice age, war, depressions, and many other calamities since the beginning of time. The story follows one family's efforts to overcome these great catastrophies with humor and ingenuity. The version presented to Issaquah audiences was adapted to fit our community and added an original flavor to the play. The actors developed their characters very well and added personal touches which highlighted the entire performance.

The Thespian club was honored to have Ann Graham accept their invitiation to direct their second annual production. Most of the members in the drama club have worked with Mrs. Graham before and were delighted to have the chance to work with her again. Assisting Mrs. Graham were Sharon Wiel and Kirk Boyd and a long list of experienced production staff. Other helpful support included Miss Compton and the art department, the Music department, and Leigh Wilson and the Keshani.

The set used a complex lighting design and moveable set pieces to achieve a variety of excellent effects. The use of slides projected against the backdrop was also a unique idea.

Although the play seemed complex, Mrs. Graham explained the theme very simply, "Regardless of what happens to man, we'll always survive by the skin of our teeth".

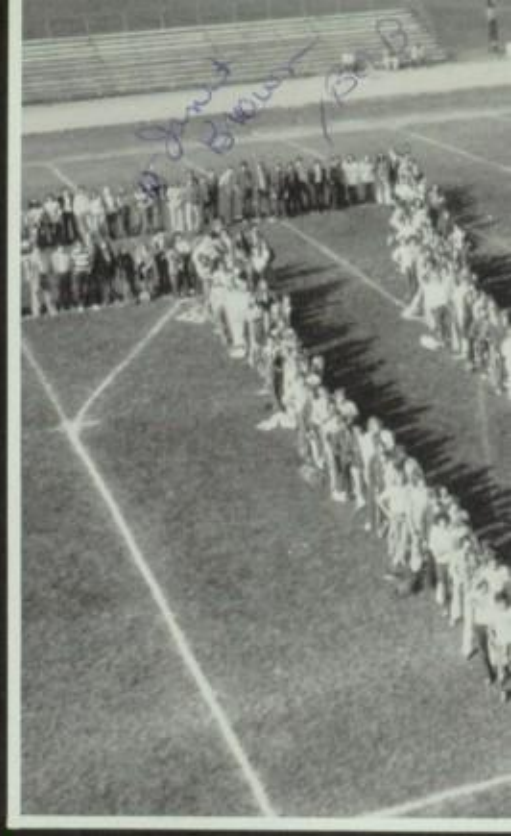
Class of '77 Has Spirit of '76

Enthusiastic Juniors capture the bicentennial spirit by taking 1st place in sign competition during homecoming week.

Cheryl, The stormy year was worth it - You will enjoy BYU and I hope they enjoy your talents as we have - Best wishes, GLEE



SENIORS

Ethel

Cheryl,
We had a lot
of fun times together,
some hard times too.
But we finally made it,
its hard to believe we are finally graduating. I wish you luck in whatever you do.
Maybe we can get together and do something this summer.

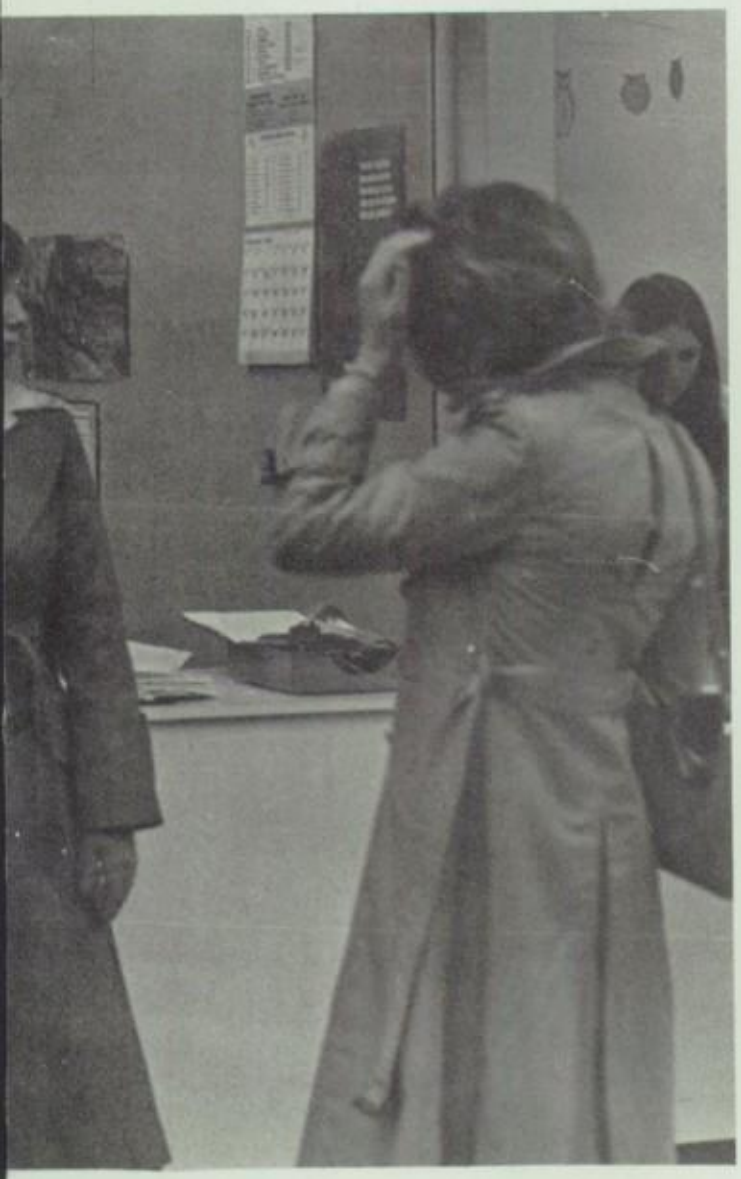
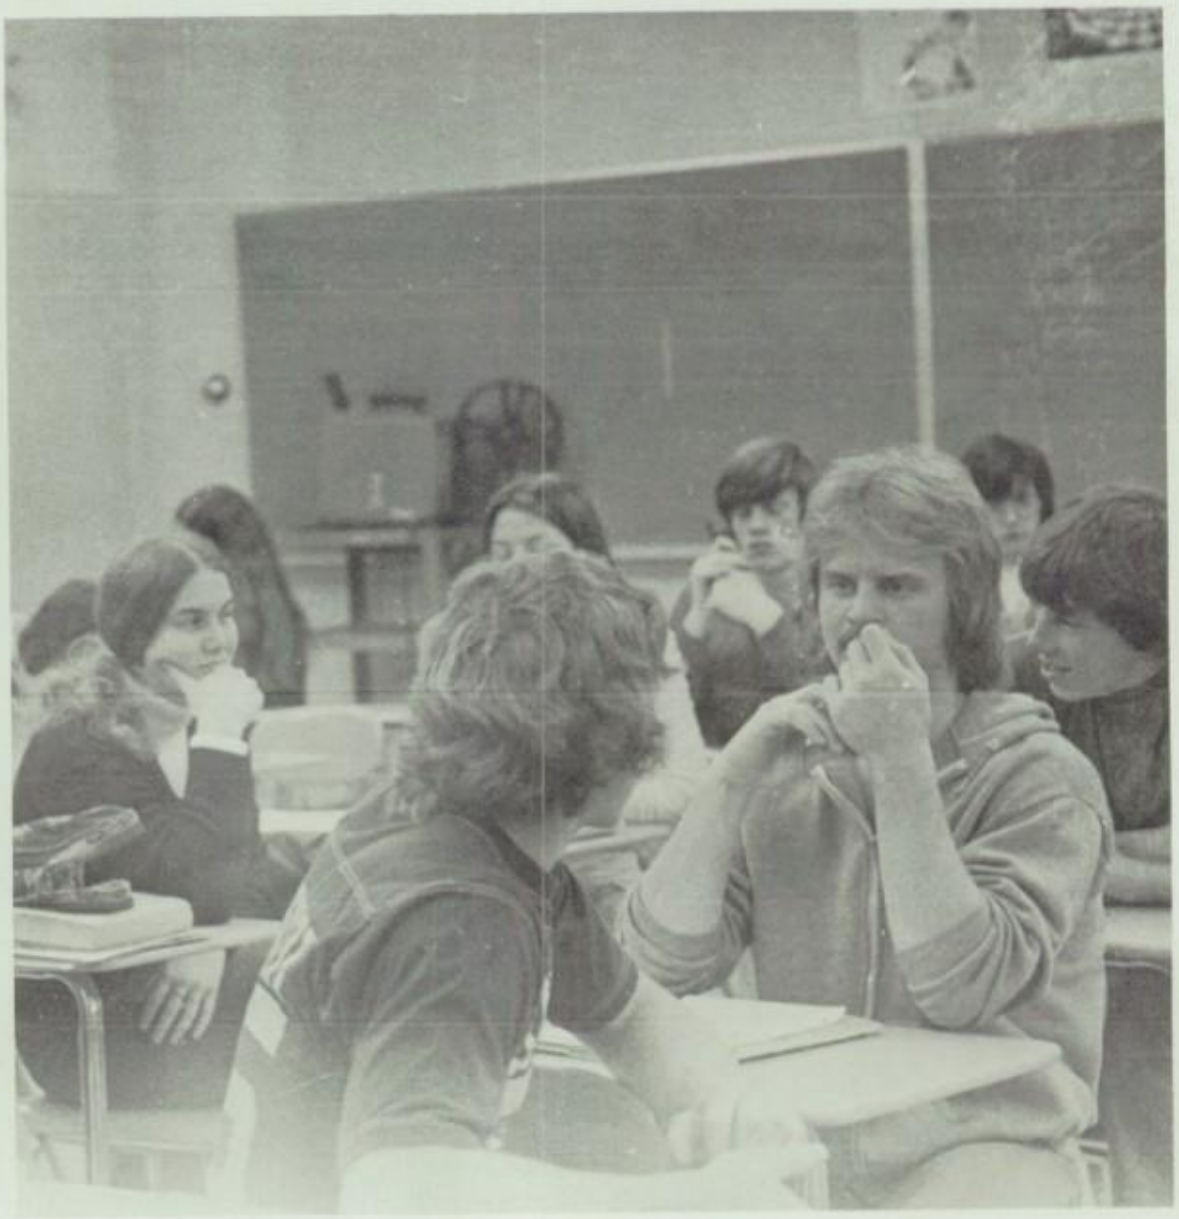
Love Jami

SENIORS

Good morning yesterday—
You wake up and realize that time is setting in to tomorrow. Passing through your mind are the memories you've left behind. Remember. Do you remember?

There's a world of magic moments you're forever thinking of. They are the good times and the bad you've seen and all the others in between. Remember. Do you remember?





Here comes the setting sun.
It seems you've just arrived and now you have to say goodbye. So collect moments while you may, to have and spend along the way. Remember.
Do you remember? The moments of your life.

D. Redmann, P. Wilson

Cheryl, I honestly hope you continue singing because you are really talented. Jim sure did here you on the radio one day. Take care always. Love, Kathy (Jane Humes)

The friendship we shared is a joy forever; its lovliness is always increasing; it can never pass into nothingness.

The language of that friendship is not words but meanings. It is an intelligence above language.
